In the coming week we shall be reminded of the work of CAFOD. The word "charity" has unfortunate connotations as, too often, it is reduced to finding a few coins in the pocket to contribute to whatever good cause is making an appeal. The Catechism reminds us of the truer and more profound significance of the word. "Charity is the theological virtue by which we love God above all things for his own sake, and our neighbour as ourselves for the love of God". We accept that the ability to love is itself an overflow from the Divine nature in which as human beings we are privileged to participate. Saint John reminds us of true origin of love: "this is the love I mean: not our love for God, but God's love for us when he sent his Son to be the sacrifice that has taken our sins away". Charity, essentially, is less about our tokens of generosity to those in need, than the recognition that being loved by God carries with it a responsibility to live as a conduit of that love to those around us. We try to help and support, as and where we can, because the understanding of God's love requires no less.

Friends of Wardour Mass on Sunday Nov 5th at 11 a.m. is open to everyone. Vox Humana (who performed last Saturday) have volunteered to bring a small contingent to sing and we will offer refreshments after Mass

Liverpool 2018 7-9 Sept, National Eucharistic Congress - we are offered 3 tickets for the parish (closing date for applications to diocese 9 Sept 2017). If you are interested, Fr Robert will give you all the details.
